<sup>a</sup> Percentages have been rounded off and may not add to 100 per cent. An asterisk indicates primary funds of less than 0.5 and more than 0 per cent. NA indicates no report for the country in that year. Negative numbers are due to adjustments made to the preceding year's figures and indicate that the amount of adjustment exceeded actual expenditure.

<sup>b</sup> 2004 data differ from the figures in the 2004 report, due to additional data received.

<sup>c</sup> 2005 data differ from the figures in the 2005 report, due to additional data received.

<sup>d</sup> The 1999 figure for Australia only includes expenditures for projects exclusively dedicated to population activities and excludes expenditures for the population component in integrated development projects.

<sup>e</sup> Information on expenditures for population projects/programmes was not provided or fully reported. As a result, 2001 project/programme figures are estimated at the 2000 level.

<sup>f</sup> Austria and France only reported information on contributions to multilateral donors in 1999. No information on project expenditures was reported.

<sup>g</sup> Information on general contributions to intermediate organizations was not reported. As a result, 2004 figures on general contributions are estimated at the 2003 level.

<sup>h</sup> 2001 data differ from the figures in the 2001 report, due to additional data received.

<sup>i</sup> Information on general contributions to intermediate organizations was not reported. As a result, 2006 figures on general contributions are estimated at the 2005 level.

<sup>j</sup> Information on project/programme expenditures was not reported. As a result, project/programme figures are estimated based on 2002 data.

<sup>l</sup> Figures on expenditures for population assistance for 1998 were not provided. As a result, 1998 figures are estimated at the 1997 level.

<sup>n</sup> Figures on expenditures for population assistance for 2000 were not provided. As a result, 2000 figures are estimated at the 1999 level.

<sup>o</sup> Figures on expenditures for population assistance for 2001 were not provided. As a result, 2001 figures are estimated at the 1999 level.

<sup>r</sup> Information on project/programme expenditures was not reported. As a result, project/programme figures are estimated based on 2003 data.

<sup>s</sup> Figures on expenditures for population assistance for 1997 were not provided. As a result, 1997 figures are estimated at the 1996 level.

<sup>t</sup> Figures on expenditures for population assistance for 1998 were not provided. As a result, 1998 figures are estimated at the 1996 level, the latest year for which figures were reported.
